השתא הכא, לשנה הבאה בארץ ישראל. השתא עבדי, לשנה הבאה בני חורין – “This year we are here, next year in the land of Israel. This year we are slaves, next year we will be free.” Why do we begin the Haggadah, the story of our freedom, by declaring that we are not free?

Another question: Throughout Jewish history, the Jewish people have recited the Haggadah even under conditions worse than slavery. How can we understand this? The Haggadah addresses this fundamental question. “This year we are here, next year in the land of Israel; this year we are slaves, next year we will be free.” Who is freer, the man who is currently unconfined but about to be sentenced to life in prison, or a prisoner who is imminently reaching the end of his sentence and eagerly anticipating the rest of his life as a free man? Even when externally we are in chains, internally and existentially we are free because we know that our full redemption is at hand. The present is not perfect, but we recognize that it is not permanent. In our collective mind’s eye, we already see the future actualization of God’s plan.

This has been the most difficult year for the Jewish people since the Holocaust. As we know too well, בכל דור ודור עומדים, עלינו לכלותנו, in every generation our enemies try to destroy us. In our generation, God has given us the ability to fight back, a privilege Jews have not had in thousands of years, but this too has exacted a heavy toll. Yet when we sit down at the Seder, we give thanks not only for our redemption from Egypt but also because, even under the most difficult circumstances, we know that our ultimate destiny is redemption, and we experience that future now.

This year, once again, OU Kosher presents its widely read Passover Guide, just one example of the herculean efforts of our dedicated staff to not just administer to and supervise tens of thousands of factories around the globe, but also provide resources and information for kosher consumers, and enable the proper observance of Passover throughout Klal Yisrael. Wishing all a chag kasher vesame'ach, and next year in Jerusalem!

וּלְמַעַן תִּסְפָּר בְּאָזְנֵי בְנֶךָ וּבְרֵבְבֶנְךָ (שמות י, ב)

...and in order that you tell into the ears of your children and children's children (Shemos 10:2)

This is central theme of the Haggaddah and the essence of the Pesach holiday – the transmission of our heritage from each generation to the next.

This is not a lecture that takes place in a classroom or even in shul. It takes place sitting around the table as we, quite literally, break (matza) bread and eat the Seder foods.

OU Kosher's plays a central role in providing the kashrus for the foods that are used by Jews the world over, to impart this message to our children.

The work of OU Kosher's Rabbinic Coordinators, Rabbinic Field Representatives, Kashrus support staff are responsible for providing millions of kosher products to the entire kosher world through certified consumer goods and also the raw materials from which kosher products are assembled.

OU Kosher is proud to publish its annual Passover guide which finds its way into nearly 100,000 homes assisting Klal Yisrael in its Pesach preparations.

Now in its second century, OU Kosher continues the mandate of its original founders. It is well documented that the American Kosher scene in the early part of the 20th century (largely in the hands of individual Rabbis and private organizations) was in disarray. It was into that vacuum that OU stepped in as a broad-based communal non-profit organization, providing uncompromising kashrus standards with integrity.

Kashrut is one of the fundamental pillars that assures the future of our people.

חג כשר ושמחה
Wishing you and all Klal Yisrael a

WHAT EVERYONE NEEDS TO KNOW ABOUT PASSOVER

How to remove chametz, prepare your home and celebrate the holiday of freedom!

PASSOVER. PESACH. ZMAN CHEIRUTEINU – THE TIME OF OUR FREEDOM.

Is there any other holiday for which we spend more time, effort and energy preparing?

Whether this is your first year observing or making Passover, or your 40th, reviewing the mitzvot and customs associated with Pesach annually contributes to the likelihood that you will do everything properly, according to Halacha (Jewish law).

The following article contains a concise overview of the mitzvot and customs related to Pesach, as well as the terms associated with the holiday. For any questions about Pesach observance, please consult an Orthodox rabbi.

When is Passover?

We observe Passover from the 15th through the 22nd of the Hebrew month of Nisan.

Pesach 2024 falls on Monday night, April 22, and lasts through Tuesday, April 30.

It is forbidden to eat chametz beginning Monday morning, April 22. See page 4 for the corresponding zmanim (times).

Is my home kosher for Passover?

Keeping a year-round kosher home is not the same as a “kosher for Passover” home.

On Passover, eating chametz, or having chametz in your possession, is forbidden. (See “What exactly is chametz?” below)

This mitzvah takes up the bulk of our Pesach preparations, as we search, clean and even scrub our homes to remove all remnants of edible chametz.

What does this look like in practice?

Maot Chitim – money for the poor

Before Pesach, there is a custom to give Maot Chitim (literally, money for wheat). We donate money to the needy to help them buy matzot and other food for Pesach. Visit ou.org/hunger to support the OU’s Maot Chitim campaign efforts, where money is given to poverty-stricken families to help them celebrate the holiday with happiness and dignity.

Cleaning

The entire home must be cleaned of all edible chametz. Check and clean out any place where chametz may have entered during the year. (If you have kids at home, this might mean under the beds, in the closets, and of course, in your car!) Either clean all toys or set aside designated clean toys.

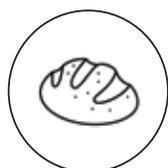

Selling

As it’s impractical to dispose of all of one’s chametz, there developed a custom to sell one’s chametz to a non-Jew. Place chametz in a specially marked and sealed place, e.g.: a room or closet. That storage space can then be leased to a non-Jew for the duration of the holiday. Ask your Orthodox rabbi to help you arrange this. For guidelines on what can and should be sold, as well as for those whose custom it is to not sell chametz, see page 58.

Different Utensils

Year-round cooking and eating utensils should not be used, and separate utensils should be purchased exclusively for Pesach use. (In some cases, year-round utensils may be kashered for Pesach use, in consultation with a rabbi.) Check out our “Kashering Primer” on page 60, for more details.

What exactly is chametz?

Chametz is any food created by allowing grain (specifically wheat, oat, spelt, rye or barley) and water to ferment and rise. This is often referred to as “leaven.”

Some common examples of chametz are bread, crackers, cookies, pretzels and pasta.

Even foods with minute amounts of chametz ingredients, or foods processed on utensils or machinery that are used for chametz, are not permissible for Pesach use. Practically speaking, any processed food not certified as kosher for Passover may include chametz ingredients and should not be eaten on Pesach. For a list of items that are acceptable despite being processed and not having a kosher of Passover certification see page 58.

The busy days before Pesach – special mitzvot and customs

Have you combed every inch of your home for wayward chametz, turned over your kitchen into an aluminum-foil-covered spaceship, and searched all corners?

You're ready for the next step:

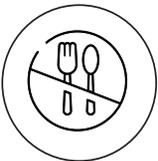

Bedikat Chametz

Bedikat Chametz means the “search for chametz.” Using a candle or flashlight we comb our homes for any chametz that we might have overlooked. This year, Bedikat Chametz will take place on Sunday evening, April 21, after dark. Kol chamirah should be recited. Any chametz found is set aside to be burned the next morning.

Burning the Chametz

On the morning of Erev Pesach, we burn the chametz. Kol chamirah should be recited. See page 4 for the latest time to burn your chametz.

The Fast of the Firstborns

Erev Pesach--Monday, April 22--is a fast day for firstborn males (Ta'anit Bechorim). During the tenth plague, all the firstborns in Egypt died. G-d passed over the homes of the Jews and spared their firstborns. To commemorate this, firstborns fast on Erev Pesach.

Many congregations conduct a siyum. (The conclusion of a portion of Torah learning is a celebratory occasion that allows for a seudat mitzvah, a ritual feast). A siyum exempts firstborn males from fasting altogether.

PASSOVER IS HERE – What You Need to Know

Not all the days of Passover are the same or have the same laws.

The first two days and the last two days

The first two days (sundown Monday night, April 22, through nightfall Wednesday, April 24) and the last two days (sundown Sunday night, April 28, through nightfall Tuesday, April 30) are observed with Shabbat restrictions on work and creative activity. The exceptions are carrying and the use of fire, which are both permitted (in certain ways) if needed for cooking and food preparation.

Chol Ha'moed – The Intermediate Days

The intermediate days of Pesach (Wednesday night, April 24 – Sunday, April 28) are considered “semi-festive.” Although they are the “weekdays” of the holiday, not all work, activities and crafts are permitted. The laws of Chol Ha'moed are pretty nuanced. An Orthodox rabbi will be able to give you detailed guidance. Note that of course for Shabbat, April 27, despite falling during the Chol Ha'Mmoed period, the usual Shabbat restrictions apply. For more on the laws of Chol HaMoed, please see page 40.

You've made it to the Seder!

Now what? Here's your overview of the mitzvot of the Seder:

The Mitzvot of the Seder

There are two Torah obligations and five rabbinical obligations to perform during the Seder.

Torah Mitzvot:

1. Relating the story of the Exodus (Maggid—reading from the Haggadah).
2. Eating matzah.

Rabbinical Mitzvot:

1. Arbah Kosot: Drinking four cups of wine.
2. Maror: Eating bitter herbs.
3. Hallel: Reciting psalms of praise.
4. Afikoman: Eating an extra piece of matzah for dessert as a reminder of the Pesach offering.
5. Demonstrating acts of freedom like sitting with a pillow and leaning to the left when eating matzah and drinking wine.

The Seder Plate

The Seder plate is arranged with symbolic foods that follow the order of the Haggadah. The prepared plate is placed in front of the leader of the Seder, who gives out the various foods to each participant.

What do we put on the Seder plate?

Charoset: a mixture of apples, nuts, wine, and cinnamon, symbolizing the bricks and mortar of ancient Egypt

Karpas: a vegetable (customarily parsley, radish, potato, or celery)

Maror: bitter herbs (may consist of romaine lettuce, endives, or pure horseradish)

Beitzah: a roasted egg

Zeroa: a piece of roasted meat or poultry. There should be a kezayit of meat on the bone

Salt water: Place a bowl of salt water for dipping the karpas near the Seder plate.

Matzah

Three whole matzot are placed next to the Seder plate. We are commanded to eat matzah three times during the Seder:

1. At the start of the Seder meal (with a special bracha)
2. For korech (Hillel sandwich) together with the maror
3. For the afikomen (at the end of the meal)

For details on the specific amounts and requirements see “Sizing Up the Seder” on page 18.

Maror – Bitter herbs

Everyone is obligated to eat bitter herbs twice at each Seder:

1. A kezayit of maror, dipped in charoset
 2. A second amount inside the matzah sandwich (korech)
- Maror* must be raw and unpreserved. Therefore, commercially prepared grated horseradish, which is packed in vinegar, may not be used for the mitzvah. For details on the specific amounts and requirements see “Sizing Up the Seder” on page 18.

Telling the story of the Exodus and singing Hallel

We encourage young children to participate in the Seder to the best of their ability. It is customary for the youngest person at the Seder to ask the Four Questions.

We close the Seder with Hallel, which praises G-d and His special relationship with the people of Israel. The Seder traditionally concludes with singing (and dancing to) several lively songs that celebrate our treasured relationship with G-d. For more on engaging children at the seder please see “Telling Our Story” on page 34.

When Passover ends

All dietary laws and restrictions remain in effect until nightfall after the eighth day of Pesach.

Chametz that was properly sold may only be eaten once the resale is confirmed by your rabbi (agent). Chametz that was in the possession of a Jew during Pesach is forbidden for consumption by any Jew, even after Pesach. ■

FEEDING AN ARMY

Kashrut in the IDF

By Rabbi Ezra Friedman

Since the tragic events of October 7, 2023-Simchas Torah 5784, the Jewish people's attention has been focused on freeing the hostages that were taken that day to Gaza, tending to the injured, consoling the shattered families, and supporting the war effort to rid Israel's southern border of the murderous Hamas.

While the news tends to concentrate on the front lines, there are many supporting efforts that also critical to the success of those on the front lines. Food plays a central function in all our lives and keeping our warriors well nourished is essential to their ability to do their difficult work. Providing them kosher food serves their spiritual well-being and helps to foster a sense of their Jewish identity and unity. OU Kosher has been very involved with the IDF's Rabbinate to help ensure that authentic kosher food has been provided to all soldiers regardless of background. This is the story of kosher food and Operation Iron Swords.

October 7th

On Simchat Torah (October 7th, 2023) the most horrific attack on the Jewish people since the Holocaust took place. Months afterward, its effects on Israeli society and the Jewish people are still unclear. In many ways, people have not recovered, and things in Eretz Yisrael may never again be the same. On the afternoon of October 7th, Israel declared war on the Hamas terrorist entity, and over the next few weeks the largest number of reservists in the history of the State of Israel was called to the battlefield.

Approximately 58% of the reservists who enlisted are religious.

The Army Rabbinate

Over the last decade there has been a silent shift in the army's observance of kashrut. Rabbi Eyal Krim, Chief Rabbi of the IDF, and Rabbi Chaim Weissberg, former head of kosher food for the IDF Rabbinate, have made tremendous improvements in this area. As the largest consumer of food in the country, the army, in cooperation with the IDF's Rabbinate, became much more involved in vetting food suppliers and their certifications. Rabbi Weissberg told me that after years of building partnerships, the logistics branch of the army agreed that all food, from sugar to meat to broccoli, would be subject to approval by the IDF's rabbinic team.

The fact that many religious soldiers have been inducted each year has helped the IDF Rabbinate to initiate improvements in the kosher status of the army's food supplies. By 2019 the IDF had increased their staff and added numerous mashgichim to bases and food service providers. They appointed professionally trained rabbis to supervise kosher departments such as imports, leafy vegetables, and shechitah. In 2022 the army finalized its move to have all meat in the army glatt kosher, regardless of which base of soldiers consumed it.

Impressive as all this was, nothing prepared the IDF Rabbinate for October 7th and the new complexities of providing the army with kosher food.

The Challenge

As mentioned above, over 360,000 reservists were called up. In addition, soldiers from all around the country were relocated to secure different areas. The entire Gaza envelope was evacuated, troops were tripled in the north, and Judea and Samaria needed increased security in case of terror attacks.

The challenge for the IDF was clear. Rabbi Chaim Weissberg was promoted in August to IDF Rabbinate Chief of Staff, and Rabbi Neria Rosenthal was selected to head the Rabbinate's kosher department. The work needed to begin, and fast. Within days, dozens of army rabbis were enlisted for reserve duty, and additional soldiers were called up for logistics.

The army rabbinate's objective was clear. As Rabbi Rosenthal told me in a meeting during the war, if a religious soldier felt there was a discrepancy between staying religious and fighting in the war, it would jeopardize his fitness to fight. If a soldier were to decide not to consume a protein snack, Shabbat meal, or war rations because they did not meet his standards of kashrut, that would pose a true danger to his ability to defeat the enemy.

The army was convinced of this and had to deliver. There was a need for seven times more food than normal, and it all had to be ready as quickly as possible.

From Meat to Protein Snacks

The army worked with nine food services to provide hot meals for soldiers on duty. These kitchens would prepare thousands of meals a day, to be delivered through various logistic systems to bases and security posts all over the country. Within less than three weeks, that number jumped from nine to forty-two food services.

Numerous reservist rabbis were in charge of running from food service to food service to confirm or upgrade standards. In many places they demanded more hours for the mashgiach or their own mashgiach on the premises. Checking for insects became more meticulous, and only glatt kosher meat could be used. Many of these caterers were dedicated to follow guidelines since they wanted to help on frontlines, while other caterers were reluctant. The army would not waver and refused to compromise its standards. Rabbis in reserves would make surprise visits to kitchens. In more than one instance they found the food service operating after hours with unsupervised Arab workers, and they canceled the army's contract with that service.

Vegetables were a serious concern for the first two months of the war. The farms of the Gaza envelope are the largest suppliers of Israel's most common vegetables, including potatoes, carrots, onions, and all leafy vegetables such as lettuce and parsley. Since the entire area was closed and the workforce was gone, how could the army possibly receive its necessary supply?

Limited workers were brought in to collect the produce while Rabbis on the ground received special permission to enter the area, and together with numerous mashgichim who volunteered, entered the envelope and for days monitored collection, taking terumot and maasrot, and ensuring standards were kept. Although there was a shortage at first, slowly but surely those basic vegetables were delivered to soldiers with the highest standard of kashrut. Rabbi Avishai Peretz of the IDF Rabbinate was on the ground running this operation.

Food donations became a very serious concern. Many civilians were determined to help in any way they could. Literally millions of dollars' worth of food was donated, some commercially packaged with no or little certification, along with hundreds of meals cooked in private homes and sent directly to army bases all over the country. The Rabbinate tried its best not to hurt the feelings of the generous-hearted donors, while at the same time funneling out what could be served in bases and given to those who wanted to keep kosher standards.

Kosher food on the battlefield

Maintaining standards of kashrut for an unusually large number of soldiers is one aspect of the challenge, but maintaining these standards on the battlefield itself is even more challenging. During the first weeks of war a home base needed to be built in northern Gaza. The home base would be necessary for conquering the area. The base would include fueling stations, vehicle maintenance and control centers. Since there was no way of building a kitchen on site, a delivery pipeline was made. Every few hours the army would deliver equipment and food. During the first few weeks many questions arose, and the Rabbinate was ready. Since food needed to be delivered on Shabbat, there were concerns about providing Shabbat food and proper ways of keeping it hot. Rabbi Rosenthal explained that after much thought and discussion with rabbinic authorities, they provided hot food for Friday night, which was delivered an hour before Shabbat. On Shabbat morning, in order to prevent the unnecessary chillul Shabbat of cooking, transportation, etc., all soldiers received large quantities of cold mehadrin food — such as sandwiches, spreads, and war rations — that they could consume on Shabbat morning.

Once northern Gaza was conquered and the army could set up stations there, another question arose: Would the soldiers be able to use kitchen facilities in the homes of Hamas operatives? Since supply delivery was dangerous in that area, the IDF Rabbinate issued detailed instructions on what was permitted to use and how to kasher utensils.

Kashrut Unites the People

It is clear that unity within the Jewish people has been a beacon of hope throughout this war. It's been amazing to see how many Jews from all walks of life are giving their all for the soldiers, the wounded, and the citizens of Israel.

One of these initiatives has been “care centers.” Four of these centers were set up close to Gaza border. At these centers soldiers can have their clothes washed, dried and folded for free, get a hot shower, and receive free toiletries and other basic necessities. The largest aspect of these care centers is serving hot meals. Some of these centers make over 20,000 hot meat meals a day, free for all soldiers who come by. These centers are run by a volunteer organization that collects hundreds of thousands of shekels a month for upkeep. A few months ago, the IDF Rabbinate approached the organization to discuss kosher certification, since this apparatus is meant for IDF soldiers. At the beginning of this discussion, Tzachi, one of the non-religious owners, stated clearly, “Listen my friends. I'm not just non-religious — I'm a true apostate!" It seemed that kosher certification was up against a firm obstacle. But over time the rabbis of the army did their best to persuade Tzachi, and after he realized there were so many religious soldiers on the frontlines (sadly, many of whom have lost their lives), he agreed to make the care centers kosher. With help from the local Rabbinate, volunteers, and the IDF, the center was made into a completely kosher establishment with full-time mashgichim. Afterwards he was asked the awkward question by one of the soldiers, "Is your establishment mehadrin?" After the IDF Rabbinate explained the meaning of that term, Tzachi surprisingly said that he wanted to be mehadrin as well! His own beliefs notwithstanding, he wanted every type of soldier to feel comfortable receiving hospitality at his center.

A few weeks later Tzachi expressed how the kashrut was bringing further positive change to his organization. Friends of his with similar initiatives were also following his example and becoming kosher certified. It's amazing how kashrut can connect so many people.

Building a Larger System

Israel's market has changed drastically over the last thirty years. Many prepared foods are now imported. The army is well aware of this, and during this war there have been more and more efforts to import goods. The army needed special types of protein bars which would be non-perishable and provide the necessary nutrition for soldiers on the front lines. Senior commanders were seeking supplies of beef jerky, a portable source of protein that doesn't spoil readily, and the IDF Rabbinate was involved in importing kosher products of the highest standards. The current war has even had an effect on international shechitah. Rav Avisahi Peretz told me that since the IDF will only accept glatt beef, a new importer agreed to have the army send Rabbinical representatives to Brazil to confirm standards for the IDF. In January, for the first time in history, the IDF sent shochtim (who serve in the army!) along with a supervising rabbi to certify the products.

OU Kosher and the IDF

Over a year and a half ago I met with the staff of the IDF Rabbinate, and the connection between OU Kosher and the army has grown exponentially. Rabbi Genack initiated a strong connection with the army and partnerships were forged for information-sharing, consultation and sourcing. When the war broke out this relationship grew even stronger. Rabbis Weissberg and Rosenthal met many times with our OU Kosher staff in Israel to partner on the supervision of imported goods. Rabbi Genack was directing the operation from the OU's offices in NY. Whether it was tuna, beef jerky, soup meals or protein bars, it was an honor for the OU to do its part in the war effort. This past January Rabbi Genack, myself and OU Kosher Israel, met with IDF staff to review the initiatives of the past few months and look toward the future. Rabbi Genack emphasized that the OU is not only a kosher certifier; it is an organization dedicated to serving Am Yisrael. May this relationship grow, may our enemies fall before us, and may the IDF Rabbinate continue to take care of both the physical and spiritual needs of its soldiers. ■

ANOTHER FOUR (OR MORE) QUESTIONS? Your 2024 Pesach FAQs

By Rabbi Moshe Zywica

Pesach is to questions as matzah is to crumbs. If you have one, you are almost certain to have a lot more of the other. The following are some of the most popular questions submitted to our OU Kosher experts.

Q: What coffees are acceptable for Passover?

A: All unflavored ground coffees are acceptable for Passover use when bearing an OU.

Decaffeinated coffee: Coffee is often decaffeinated by means of ethyl acetate, which is derived from either kitniyot or chametz. Therefore, decaffeinated coffees are not acceptable for Passover unless specifically marked for Passover, found in our Passover Guide on page 74 or on oukasher.org/passover under the heading of products certified for year-round use and Passover.

Instant coffees often contain maltodextrin, which could be derived either from corn (kitniyot) or grains (chametz). Therefore, all instant coffees require special Passover certification unless explicitly mentioned in our Passover Guide on page 75 or on oukasher.org/passover under the heading of products certified for year-round use and Passover.

Folgers decaffeinated unflavored instant coffee is acceptable without special Passover certification.

Q: How does one Kasher a Keurig Coffee Maker ? (For those who kasher plastic. Those who do not kasher plastic should put away their coffee maker for Pesach.)

1. Clean the coffee maker and do not use for 24 hours.
2. Remove the K-cup holder and perform hagalah or iruy (pouring boiling water over it) on the K-cup holder.
3. Run a Kosher for Passover K-cup in the machine to kasher the top pin.

Q. How does one Kasher Kitchen Countertops ?

A: Ceramic Tile Countertops - Cover the countertop with a water-resistant covering such as plastic. (The countertop itself cannot be kashered; therefore, it must be covered.)

Composite Stone (e.g. Quartz) - Composite countertops are often made with a combination of crushed quartz (stone) and resin (plastic). Rav Belsky zt"l maintained that even those who are strict regarding kashering plastic may be lenient to kasher composite countertops, because the overwhelming majority is stone. See Granite or Stainless-Steel countertops section below for steps of kashering. If the composite countertop also includes ceramics, it cannot be kashered.

Granite or Stainless Steel - It is preferable to kasher a countertop by pouring boiling water in conjunction with an even melubenet (a heated stone). To kasher with an even melubenet: Attach a stone to a clamp, and heat the stone on the stove for a minute. While pouring the boiling water on the counter, move the stone along on the counter with the boiling water so that the water is reheated on the surface of the counter. The stone may need to be reheated on the stovetop several times, since it can cool down quickly.

Formica or Plastic Countertops - There are different opinions as to whether formica or plastic countertops can be kashered for Pesach. Consult your rabbi for guidance.

Q: I hear conflicting reports in regard to selling pure chametz vs. items which are mixtures containing chametz. Could you please expand a little on this subject?

A. According to most opinions, one may lock up and sell foods, even if they are pure chametz. Some have the custom of not selling food that is pure chametz. This is because the sale involves complex halachic issues, and it is difficult to fulfill the requirements in a way that satisfies all opinions. One may be lenient if disposing of pure chametz would cause financial hardship. The following foods are examples of items that would fall into the pure chametz category; beer, biscuits, bran, cake, cookies, wafers, cereals, oatmeal, puffed wheat, wheat germ, crackers, dough, pasta, soup nuts, and malt. Regarding white flour, it is questionable whether it is considered pure chametz. This is because the grains are washed quickly and most likely have not been in contact with water for enough time to become chametz. Therefore, some who will not sell pure chametz will sell flour. For more on this subject, please see When to Peddle and When to Purge on page 58.

Q: Do chametz dishes and pots need to be sold?

A: If pots were sold, they would need to be immersed again after Passover when they are reacquired from the non-Jew. The custom, therefore, is to sell any chametz that remains in the pots.

Q: How should the sale be arranged if one is going to be in a different time zone during Passover?

A: One should notify the rabbi who is selling the chametz. The rabbi will then be able to schedule the sale and repurchase of the chametz to accommodate the time difference.

Q: Are raw nuts acceptable for Passover?

A: Raw nuts in their shell do not require Passover certification.

Shelled raw nuts that list BHA, BHT, or any other additive on the ingredient label require special Passover certification. If no additives are listed, raw nuts may be acceptable when bearing an OU symbol. Pecans that are whole or half are acceptable with an OU certification, midgets and pecan pieces require Passover certification.

In Europe different communities had different customs about peanuts. Some considered them to be kitniyot; while others ate peanuts on Passover. Many years ago, the OU certified Kosher for Passover peanut oils for those Jews whose custom was to eat peanuts and peanut oil on Passover. However, in recent years we have stopped certifying peanut oil as Kosher for Passover.

Furthermore, we cannot recommend that people whose custom is to use peanut oil on Passover use un-certified peanut oil, because of concerns about the peanut oil being processed on non-Passover equipment.

Q: Does extra virgin olive oil need to be certified kosher for Passover?

A: Extra virgin olive oil is kosher for Passover if it bears the OU symbol. All other oils require kosher for Passover certification to be consumed on Passover.

Q: Which baby formula can I use for my infant on Passover?

A: Most infant formulas are made from soy products which are kitniyot. Since kitniyot does not apply to infants most formulas may be used on Passover. For a list of acceptable formulas please visit oukasher.org/passover. Please note that care should be taken to keep bottles, nipples and formula away from the general kitchen area. Any mixing or washing should be done elsewhere, such as in the bathroom sink. For a list of acceptable formulas please see page 116.

Q: Is almond or soy milk acceptable for Passover?

A: Almond and soy milk may be problematic and are not recommended for use on Passover. If a situation arises and it is needed by an infant or an infirmed person, please see page 116 or at oukasher.org/passover under the site's general Passover FAQ tab for a list of products that are acceptable for this situation.

TELLING OUR STORY:

How to Engage Our Children at the Seder

Rabbi Dani Staum, LMSW

Question:

I am always very excited about the Seder, and I always look forward to it weeks before Pesach begins.

Yet every year I feel somewhat disappointed. I understand that it is integral that the Seder be oriented toward chinuch and that the story of the Haggadah resonate with each child. But invariably, at the beginning of the Seder, our children begin fighting – usually over silly things, like chairs and pillows.

As the Seder progresses our younger children start becoming tired and cranky, and our older children want to share the myriad divrei Torah on every point in the Haggadah.

I would love some tips on how to help our Seder be a more enjoyable and uplifting experience for my entire family. It's a beautiful idea to speak to every child at the Seder and convey the ideas of emunah, but practically, how can that be accomplished?

Answer:

It's hard to give exact parameters, because what works for one family may not work for another. But we can share some ideas that will hopefully resonate with you and your family.

We want the Seder to be a positive memory for our children; one that will remain with them throughout their lives.

How can we engage our children and imprint timeless messages on their souls, while at the same time keep the Seder flowing with a happy and pleasant atmosphere?

It is important to remember that the mitzvot and ambiance of the night in and of themselves create memories in and of themselves. We need only to ensure that the Seder is a positive experience.

Chazal teach us that on Seder night we should pique the curiosity and interest of our children. Thanks to the incredible efforts and dedication of our children's teachers, today many of our children know more divrei Torah about the Haggadah than we do. Each child comes to the Seder with a plethora of ideas to share. Often when one child is sharing his/her thoughts, everyone else becomes restless. Like so many things in life, and particularly in education, it's about striking the right balance. The following are some ideas that you may find helpful:

Set the tone

Being as proactive as possible can go a long way. It is a good idea to discuss with one's children some fair parameters in advance.

In some homes only the father shares divrei Torah during Maggid, although each child is welcome to ask questions and add to the father's points. In other homes each child is allowed to share one favorite thought after a certain number of paragraphs. Contemplate what will work best for your family and discuss the game plan beforehand.

Spread out the inspiration

My father often remarks that he doesn't understand why everyone has so much to share during Maggid, but when it comes to Shulchan Oreich (or the rest of the Seudos during Pesach) no one has any divrei Torah to share. Why not share some of the Haggadah thoughts then? They don't expire when Maggid ends.

Embrace the imperfections

One year at the Seder of Rav Yitzchok Hutner zt'l, a student was nervously filling Rav Hutner's cup with wine when he accidentally spilled some wine on Rav Hutner's perfectly white kittel. Without missing a beat, Rav Hutner warmly quipped, "A kittel without a wine stain at the Seder is like a Yom Kippur Machzor without tears."

It's important to remember that the Seder need not be perfect nor angelic to create a memorable experience for our children.

A big part of our personal satisfaction relates to our expectations. Expect that some children will be whiny, that someone (or someones) will spill on the beautiful Seder table, and that some of our children will complain about how long or how fast the Seder progresses.

Use props

In some families, the leader of the Seder or another adult will sneak out and return a few minutes later in a makeshift costume. They may pretend to be Pharaoh, Moshe, or a regular Jew on the night of Yetziat Mitzrayim. They then breathlessly proceed to share their firsthand story to the wide-eyed young children seated at the table, before bolting out for another costume change.

If one is blessed with older children as well, it's recommended to remind them prior to the performance that it is geared for the younger audience. In this way they won't feel the need to downplay the act. Ideally, they would star in the performance as well.

Role play

In every generation, a person is obligated to picture that he had left Egypt. Some families have the custom of walking around the table with matzah over the shoulders, imitating our ancestors on their way out of Mitzrayim.

Offer prizes and treats

Chazal mention dispensing nuts as an incentive to children for asking questions. These days it may be better to use chocolate chips or candies. Your children's dentist will be most appreciative.

A friend of mine creates "Seder dollars" before Pesach which he hands out during the Seder as a reward for good participation. Those dollars can be cashed in for prizes on Chol HaMoed.

Keep the focus

One of the greatest challenges of the Seder is that many of the members do not understand the content of the Haggadah.

Rav Shlomo Zalman Aurebach zt'l was particular to explain every passage of the Haggadah in a simple manner. His explanations weren't detailed or lengthy. When those at the Seder have a general idea about what they are reading it becomes far more meaningful.

Some families allow different members of the family to read the translation of the different paragraphs.

Relate the history:

Perhaps most importantly, when the details of the redemption and the makkos are read, the leader of the Seder should stress that Hashem did this all for us because He loves us, because we are His children, and we are special! That is a good juncture to mention how Hashem continues to watch over us every day and in every facet of our lives. His love for us has never wavered.

After all the Jewish people have endured this year, the message of our national uniqueness and fostering a sense of Jewish pride is vital to impress upon our children.

Personalize the providence

A great way to drive the message of Yetzias Mitzrayim and Hashem's love for us home is by sharing personal stories.

It's also a great time to invite others around the table to share a brief personal anecdote where they felt the Yad Hashem. People, especially children, love to listen to stories, especially personal stories. Stories of grandparents, relatives, and other ancestors are particularly meaningful.

If Maggid is becoming too long this can also be done during the Seudah or throughout the Yom Tov. (Seder Dollars can be given out to those children who pay attention...)

Develop a theme

A Rebbe of mine related that he spends time before Pesach developing a personal 3-4-minute idea that he shares with his family at the beginning of Maggid. After that, during the Seder he shares only brief explanations of the paragraphs they are reading. He also includes brief references to his original message throughout the Seder demonstrating how the theme traverses the Haggadah. My Rebbe noted that he views that brief speech as an opportunity to convey an overarching message to his family that he hopes will resonate with them. As he lives outside Eretz Yisroel, he composes a different message for both Seder nights.

As mentioned, the Seder itself produces special memories and sears its imprint onto our neshamos. The ideas here are just ways to bolster that effect.

Perhaps most important for us as parents and grandparents is to take a moment during the Seder to appreciate our nachas and the gift of our families. Our children may not be perfect, but they are the greatest gift we have been blessed with.

During the days after the Seder, people love to ask what time other families finished their Sedarim. A far more worthy question is how long did the Seder last... within their heart and soul?

May we all merit fulfilling the mitzvos and halachos properly and enjoy this year's Seder with the offering and eating of the Korbos Pesach in Yerushalayim. ■

...and Everything in Between:

An Overview of the Laws of Chol HaMoed

By Rabbi Moshe Zywica

For many, Chol HaMoed, the intermediate period bridging the first and last days of Passover and Sukkot, merge the best of both the holy and temporal worlds. During this period of joy and celebration, certain melachot are forbidden, while others are permitted. The term Chol HaMoed is paradoxical, with “chol” meaning weekday and “moed” meaning festival. Often referred to as the ‘secular days of the holiday,’ the Talmudic tractate exploring the laws of this period is named Moed Katan, meaning ‘minor festival.’

Yet, even once the first days of Passover and Sukkot have concluded, the festival persists, making it distinct from an ordinary weekday; something emphasized by the Vilna Gaon (as quoted in the Masah Rav), who would conclude Havdalah with the proclamation of “Gut moed” (a good festival) rather than the typical “Gut vach” (a good week).

Chol HaMoed serves as a time to refocus, encouraging individuals to avoid mundane or routine activities that do not contribute to the festive atmosphere. It is a period dedicated to elevating one’s attention and engagement, ensuring that every action aligns with the festival’s joyous and celebratory nature. Accordingly, some poskim advise one to enjoy two festive meals (M.B. 530.1) and to drink wine daily (Shut Rosh Rule 25.1).

In the festive spirit, families often participate in leisure activities that cultivate a sense of joy and togetherness (Sefer Yaraim 126-127). Engaging in activities which lead to enjoyment of the yom tov creates an appropriate atmosphere together, the simcha inherent in doing something enjoyable creates an appropriate atmosphere for the service of Hashem (Rambam’s Laws of Yom Tov 6.20).

Conversely, The Talmud (Makkos 23a) tells us that one who is mevazeh et hamoadim — degrades the festivals — is considered as though they are involved in idol worship. Rashi explains that moadim here does not refer to Yom Tov itself but to Chol HaMoed. The Sfat Emet on Pirkei Avos notes that this does not only refer to someone who actively disparages the moadim; it even refers to one who disgraces the Yom Tov by doubting its capacity to spiritually sustain him or her for the rest of the year through its profound impact and influence.

The Talmud (Moed Katan 12a) notes that the laws of Chol HaMoed are difficult to categorize and one should not compare one law of Chol HaMoed to another due to the uniqueness of each category, as we will see.

Clothing

The poskim debate the extent to which one’s dress should be different from their weekday attire. The Magen Avraham (664:3) holds that one’s Chol HaMoed clothing should be the same as Shabbat clothing (but need not be as fancy as Yom Tov clothing). The Shar HaTziyon (Mishnah Berurah 530:4) differs; he believes that one’s Chol HaMoed attire should be nicer than for a weekday, but that it does not have to be as nice as one’s Shabbat clothing. Mishnah Berurah also quotes the Shulchan Aruch Harav (530:1) as saying that one's clothing should meet Yom Tov status, which is assumed to be an even higher level than that of Shabbat.

Melacha and Working

All agree that on Chol HaMoed certain melachot are forbidden, except for the categories outlined below. The Yerushalmi (M.K. 2:3) teaches that the purpose of Chol HaMoed is to devote one's time to Torah learning.

There is a dispute among the early commentators as to whether the forbidden melachot are d'Orayta (biblically mandated) (Rashbam Pesachim 118a), or d'Rabbanan (rabbinically mandated) to ensure that we celebrate Chol HaMoed properly by allotting time to focus on the Yom Tov (Tosafos Chagigah 18A).

The Mishkenot Yakov (O.C. 38) notes the following distinction: in the days of the Beit HaMikdash, when one was able to sacrifice korbanot (offerings) and travel was required, melacha on Chol HaMoed was prohibited on a Torah level. However nowadays, the prohibition of doing melacha is only rabbinic in nature.

Business

All business transactions, even those that do not specifically involve melacha, are prohibited on Chol HaMoed. As such, it is generally prohibited to buy and sell objects that are not needed for Yom Tov (539.1). When any melacha is prohibited on Chol HaMoed, even a non-Jew is prohibited to perform the melacha on a Jew's behalf (543.1). There is an exception to this rule when a melacha is needed on Chol HaMoed to fulfill a mitzvah (543.M.A. & 544.1 Rema).

Five categories of Melachos are permitted on Chol Chamoed

Tzorech HaMoed (that which is needed for the holiday) — Melacha may be performed on Chol HaMoed for the sake of enhancing the holiday, provided this type of melacha requires no special training.

Davar HaAved (avoiding a loss) — One may perform melacha on Chol HaMoed if the intent is to prevent a potential financial loss. However, one may not intentionally delay a job until Chol HaMoed even if doing so prevents a financial loss (Shulchan Aruch 536:6). The Ritva (Moed Katan 13a) explains the rationale for permitting melacha to avoid a loss: if this category of melacha were prohibited, one might worry about the loss during Yom Tov and potentially spoil his or her Yom Tov.

It's important to note that there is a difference between actual loss and being prevented from being able to make a profit. For example, if one might get fired for not working on Chol HaMoed, this would be considered a Davar HaAved, permitting the person to work. If, however, one would only lose one's pay for the days of Chol HaMoed, this would not be considered a Davar HaAved (539.4 & Beirur Halacha 537.1). In this case one is not incurring an actual loss, rather, he or she is losing out on a future gain. If a person will use vacation days by not working during Chol HaMoed, and they prefer to take vacation at a different time during the year, this may also be considered a Davar HaAved (Shemirat Shabbat K'Hilchasa vol.2-chapter 67 footnote 47).

Poeil She'ein Lo Mah Le'echol (one who is so poor that if he does not work, he literally will not have what to eat) — This is another category of permitted work on Chol HaMoed. The Magen Avraham (542.1) notes that this term refers to one who does not even have water to drink and bread to eat for Yom Tov. If one can afford these bare basics, one cannot work on Chol HaMoed. Others understand this exception to apply to one who lacks sufficient money to properly celebrate Yom Tov (Shar Ha'tziyun 542.12).

LET'S TALK FOOD

Food, Health and Hygiene — Food preparation is permissible on Chol HaMoed; there is no need to prepare food before Yom Tov to avoid doing so on Chol HaMoed. Although there is no limitation of food preparation on Chol HaMoed, one may only prepare as much as is needed during Yom Tov; one may not prepare for after Yom Tov (533.1). Interestingly, an oven may be repaired on Chol HaMoed because it directly impacts food preparation.

While all medical care, even for non-life-threatening issues, is permitted on Chol HaMoed (532.2), annual checkups should not be scheduled (Igrot Moshe O.C.3.78). Melacha to take care of one's physical needs, such as showering or applying makeup, creams and lotions, is permitted on Chol HaMoed (546.5). There are different opinions as to whether it is permitted to cut one's nails during Chol HaMoed (532.1).

Although it stands to reason that shaving, haircuts and doing laundry should be included in the category of Tzorech HaMoed (non-specialized work that enhances Yom Tov) and therefore be permitted, they are not. The Talmud (M.K. 14a) specifically teaches that Chazal forbade these activities to be done on Chol HaMoed to ensure that we begin Yom Tov properly groomed. Contemporary poskim contemplate whether one who shaves daily may shave on Chol HaMoed (see Igrot Moshe OC 1:163 and Nefesh Harav page 189). One may do laundry for young children if they will not have enough clean clothing.

Community Needs – Professional workers may be hired to take care of the physical needs of the Jewish community, such as filling potholes or fixing uneven sidewalks. If a community has only one Sefer Torah, and it requires repair to be used on Yom Tov, this would be permitted even though this requires a professional scribe (Shulchan Aruch 544.1).

The laws and customs of Chol Hamoed are intricate and differ from community to community. In this article we have attempted to provide a brief overview of some of the principles and diversity of opinion. As with any area of intricate halacha, the reader is encouraged to consult with halachic authorities for elucidation and advice.

Wishing you a beautiful and joyous Yom Tov. ■

The Pesach Table

Then & Now

By Naomi Ross

How do you honor time-old family cooking traditions while establishing a holiday table of your own? It is a fine line to walk – the intermingling of the old and the new – to sow tomorrow’s special Pesach memories. It’s a delicate balance where sacrosanct sensory tastes merge with modernity.

The world is a drastically different place from a hundred or even fifty years ago, and our cooking has been impacted as well. With access to an array of ingredients and equipment our grandmothers never knew (let alone were kosher l’Pesach), it is easier than ever to cook well despite the additional holiday restrictions. The result: evolving tastes that compete with upholding family recipes and traditions.

There is a natural yearning to innovate and to refresh menus with vibrant new tastes and flavors, a need to renew. The family may get excited about a contemporary quinoa salad, but tread lightly because the chicken soup better be like Bubby’s (...or else!). The vestiges of traditional Jewish cooking live on through the mesorah of flavor, a taste that is learned and experienced from the previous generations and then passed on to the next. Trusting intuition over exact measurements (without a total dependence on recipes), the ability to cook with discerning tastebuds, and most of all, the loving care we impart to our food, is what imparts a true Yiddishe ta’am!

When you are knee-deep in your Pesach cooking, taste often and lean into those meaningful dishes and the feel of replicating them. Meanwhile, here are some classics along with a few trendier dishes for your holiday table. You needn’t recreate the wheel...but some new tires never hurt anyone!

BUBBY’S CHICKEN SOUP

Looking to scale up your soup for a crowd? Using the following formula makes it easy: for each additional 2 servings, add 1 leg quarter, 2 ¼ cups of water, and some additional vegetables. Chicken bones can be used instead (or in addition) to leg quarters.

Cook’s Tip: Place herbs in a small garnet bag for easy straining.

Serves 8.

4 chicken leg quarters (or 3 pounds chicken bones)

10 cups water

1 onion, quartered

1 turnip, peeled and trimmed

2 parsnips, peeled, trimmed, and cut in half

5-6 carrots, peeled, trimmed, and cut in half

3-4 stalks celery, trimmed and cut in thirds

½ bunch fresh parsley

½ bunch fresh dill

2-3 teaspoons kosher salt, more to taste
Freshly ground pepper to taste

Directions:

1. Skim: Place chicken and cool water in a large pot. Bring to a boil over medium-high heat. Foam and impurities will begin to rise to the surface; skim off and discard using a small sieve or slotted spoon.
2. Simmer: Add the remaining ingredients to the pot and return to a boil. Reduce heat to low, partially cover, and simmer for at least 2½-3 hours (or up to 6 hours). Remove from heat to cool.

3. Strain: When the soup has cooled enough to handle, pour through a fine strainer or colander set over another pot; sift out and discard chicken bones, skin and any unwanted vegetables. Return the desired vegetables and chicken pieces (separated from the bones) to the pot.
4. Season the soup with salt and pepper to taste. Serve with matzo balls or mandlen.

BRAISED SHORT RIBS WITH PORT AND POMEGRANATE REDUCTION

Rich and indulgent, these are not ribs for the faint of heart. These are special occasion ribs. Port is a sweet brandy-fortified wine that deepens the intensity of the reduction sauce, balancing the tart acidity of pomegranate molasses.

Cook's Note: The expense and work of this reduction makes it worth keeping even long after the short ribs are all gobbled up. Freeze any leftover sauce to repurpose for another day...a special finish to any steak or roast.

Serves 4-6.

- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 4-5 pounds beef short ribs
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 2 medium carrots, chopped
- 3-4 stalks celery, chopped
- 8 garlic cloves, minced (about 3 tablespoons)
- 1 teaspoon kosher salt, divided (or more to taste)
- ½ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper (or more to taste)
- 1½ cups dry red wine (Cabernet or Merlot)
- 2/3 cup Port
- 1½ cups (12-ounces) crushed tomatoes
- 1 cup low-sodium chicken or beef stock
- 1/3 cup pomegranate molasses
- 1 tablespoon honey (or more to taste)
- 1 bay leaf
- 2 tablespoons minced parsley
- Pomegranate seeds, for garnish

Directions:

1. Preheat oven to 350°F. Sprinkle ribs with about ½ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper.
2. Sear ribs: Heat oil in a heavy, large oven-safe pot or Dutch oven over high heat (do not heat to smoking point). Working in batches, brown ribs, turning occasionally, about 2-3 minutes per side. Transfer to plate and set aside.
3. Sauté: Reduce to medium heat. Add carrots, onion, and celery to the pot. Season with remaining ½ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon black pepper. Sauté for about 5-8 minutes, or until vegetables become tender, stirring occasionally. Add garlic; stir to blend, and cook for another 1-2 minutes.
4. Deglaze: Add red wine, and bring to a boil, stirring and scraping up any browned bits from the bottom of the pan. Add Port, tomatoes, broth, pomegranate molasses, honey and bay leaf, and stir to blend. Return to a boil; simmer for about 6-8 minutes and until mixture is slightly thickened. Return ribs to the pot. Cover and transfer to oven; bake until meat is tender and almost falls off bone, about 2 hours (if you don't have an oven safe pot, transfer mixture to a baking pan and cover).

5. Degrease: Skim off and discard excess fat from surface. Using tongs, transfer ribs to a large bowl. Return pot to stove over medium-low heat; bring to a simmer. Add minced parsley and simmer liquid, stirring occasionally, until reduced by a third and slightly thickened, about 10-15 minutes. Season to taste, adding more salt, pepper or honey as needed.

6. Remove from heat and top ribs with sauce.* Serve over mashed potatoes. Garnish with more parsley or pomegranate seeds.

*For perfectly smooth sauce, pass through a fine sieve, discarding strained vegetables.

COCONUT MACAROONS WITH CHOCOLATE GANACHE

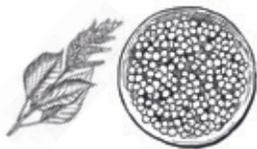

Adapted from former food blogger Molly Wizenberg, these sumptuous treats are a far cry from the canned versions. They are fresh and flavorful, the way a coconut macaroon should be!

Yields 24 cookies.

3 cups (lightly packed) shredded coconut
 ¾ cup sugar
 ¾ cup egg whites (about 5-6 large)
 1½ teaspoons pure vanilla extract
 6 ounces bittersweet chocolate, chopped
 ½ cup heavy whipping cream or frozen non-dairy whipping cream, defrosted

Directions:

1. Line 2 baking sheets with parchment paper; set aside.
 2. Cook coconut: Mix coconut, sugar and egg whites in a large nonstick saucepan. Cook over medium-low heat, stirring constantly, about 12 minutes, until mixture appears somewhat pasty but not dry, and individual coconut flakes become visible. Remove from heat. Mix in vanilla extract. Spread out coconut mixture on one of the prepared baking sheets. Refrigerate until cold, about 30 minutes.
 3. Bake: Preheat oven to 300°F. Using moistened hands, form walnut-sized mounds; place on prepared sheet, about 1-2 inches apart. Repeat with remaining coconut mixture. Bake cookies until golden, about 20 minutes. Transfer cookies to rack and cool. Set cookies on rack over rimmed baking sheet.
 4. Ganache: Place cream in a small, heavy saucepan over medium heat until scalding (do not boil). Remove from heat, and add chocolate. Steep for a minute; mix until mixture is smooth and blended. Dip each macaroon in ganache, covering most of the macaroon with a generous blanket of chocolate. Refrigerate until glaze sets, at least 2 hours. Transfer to an airtight container and refrigerate.
- DO AHEAD: Macaroons will keep for up to 5 days stored in an airtight container in the refrigerator, or 1-2 months in the freezer.

SOUTHWESTERN RED QUINOA SALAD

A flavorful and healthy quinoa salad lightens up any meal. During the year, I bulk it up with more protein by adding black beans and corn kernels as well!

Serves 8.

- 2 cups red quinoa, rinsed
- 2 cups water
- 1 teaspoon plus 2 tablespoons olive oil, divided
- 2 sweet potatoes, peeled and diced
- 2-3 teaspoons honey
- ½ teaspoon Kosher salt, or more to taste
- Freshly ground black pepper
- 1 red bell pepper, diced
- ½ red onion, minced (OR 2-3 scallions, thinly sliced)
- ½ cup chopped, toasted pecans
- 2-3 tablespoons fresh minced cilantro
- 1-2 handfuls of arugula leaves
- 1 ripe avocado, pitted and diced

Dressing:

- Juice of ½ lemon (about 1 tablespoon)
- Juice of ½ lime (about 1 tablespoon)
- 2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
- 1 tablespoon honey
- ½ teaspoon Kosher salt, or more to taste
- Freshly ground black pepper
- ½ teaspoon ground cumin
- ½ teaspoon ground coriander
- ½ cup olive oil

Directions:

1. Cook Quinoa: Boil 2 cups water in a small saucepan over medium heat. Add 1 teaspoon olive oil and quinoa; stir and reduce heat to low. Cover and cook over low heat for about 18 minutes or until water is completely absorbed. Remove from heat and let stand for 5 minutes.

2. Meanwhile, roast sweet potatoes: Preheat oven to 425F and line a baking sheet with parchment paper. Toss diced sweet potatoes with remaining 2 tablespoons olive oil, kosher salt, honey, and black pepper. Spread into an even layer on the baking sheet. Roast for about 15 minutes or until caramelized and tender. Set aside.

3. Prepare dressing: Combine lemon juice, lime juice, vinegar, honey, salt, pepper, cumin, and coriander in a large mixing bowl. Whisk to blend. While continuing to whisk, drizzle in olive oil in a slow stream until dressing is well blended. Season to taste with more salt or pepper as needed.

4. Assemble: Fluff quinoa with a fork and add to bowl with dressing. Add roasted sweet potatoes, red pepper, red onion, pecans, cilantro, and arugula. Toss to coat with dressing. Gently fold in diced avocado. Serve warm or at room temperature. ■

NOTE FOR ALL RECIPES: Vegetables, fruits and herbs must be properly checked for insects before use.

Milk

GOES MODERN:

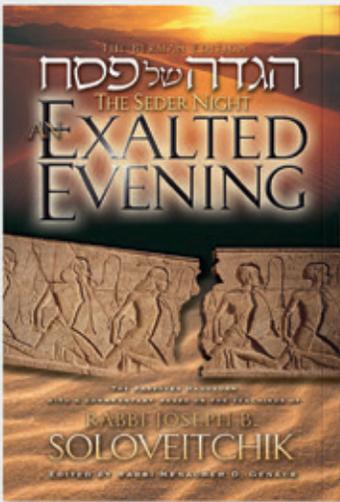

Developments in Milk Processing and Kashrus for Pesach

By Rabbi Gavriel Price

Passover marks the birth of a nation. In that context, it's appropriate that we discuss the most nourishing of foods: milk. A number of modern developments in milk processing affect the kashrus of milk for Pesach. They include vitamin enrichment, the processing of oatmilk on production lines that process dairy milk, and lactose-free milk.

Vitamin Enrichment

In the 1930's a group of medical professionals teamed up with food manufacturers to address a range of problems of nutrition deficiency in the United States. Rickets, a condition of soft or weak bones, had been a widespread problem among American children since the 19th century. Advances in understanding the physiological role of vitamins indicated that rickets was caused by a deficiency in vitamin D. In 1933, vitamin D was first isolated and purified in an industrial process and by the end of the decade the first dairy processors began to add the vitamin to address the problem (other foods that were fortified to address public health issues include enriched flour and iodized salt ¹).

In the 1940's, when milk processors introduced low-fat and fat-free milk, researchers noted that its natural vitamin A content, which resides in the fat component of milk, was reduced. Processors therefore began to add vitamin A to low-fat and fat-free versions of milk. ²

Vitamins A and D are still routinely added to milk. Is there any concern of chametz?

The OU is familiar with the manufacturing process of both of these vitamins because we certify the production sites. They are made using materials that are neither chametz nor kitniyot. Processing aids peripheral to the actual constituents of these vitamins may be kitniyot. When special productions are made for Passover, those ingredients are removed from the process.

The analysis of the impact of vitamins A and D on milk does not, however, end there. Dairy processors – the sites that actually bottle the milk – cannot add pure vitamin A or pure vitamin D to milk. These vitamins will not, on their own, dissolve properly into milk, the amounts needed are truly miniscule and difficult to manage, and regulations governing proper dosage is exacting. A middleman, therefore, provides the indispensable service of blending the vitamins into a liquid medium that will allow the dairy processors to add the vitamins in such a way that the vitamins will be soluble (dissolve) uniformly into the milk at precisely the right volume.

This liquid blend contains water, a vegetable oil, a carrier (or solvent) and an emulsifier (a specialty ingredient that allows for water and oil to blend).

The dairy processor adds the vitamin blend to milk at a ratio of one milliliter to every 100 quarts (or one part in 100,000) of low-fat or fat-free milk and only one milliliter to every 500 quarts of standard milk. ³

While this blend does not contain any obvious chametz, even if the blend was to contain a chametz ingredient, the general rule is that chametz added to a mixture prior to Passover is nullified in the mixture, provided it is less than one in sixty parts ⁴ (that which chametz is never nullified – issur mashehu – applies only when the chametz is mixed in on Passover ⁵).

OU Passover certified milk production requires that the vitamin blend be certified for Passover, in which case both the vitamins and the other components of the liquid vitamin blend are certified for Pesach (although there is discussion in halachic literature about the status of milk for Pesach if a cow primarily ate chametz, practically speaking the issue is irrelevant in the United States; chametz is not a standard component of their diet).

Given the complexities involved in the addition of vitamins to milk, the OU recommends purchasing Passover certified milk or buying milk prior to Passover.

Equipment Used to Process Both Dairy Milk and OatMilk

Although oats are not soluble in water, oat sugar, a component of the oat, is soluble in water. A recently developed food-engineering technique separates the oat sugar from the rest of the oat in a water medium, enabling the oat sugar to dissolve in water. The beverage is called oatmilk, and it has become exceedingly popular in both Europe and in the United States in the last few years.

Oatmilk is chametz. It undergoes a heat step known as pasteurization. Dairy milk is also pasteurized. Is oatmilk pasteurized on the same production lines that process standard dairy milk? If so, would equipment that processed oatmilk compromise the Pesach status of dairy milk that was processed on those lines?

Before answering these questions, it is important to appreciate a technical, but easily graspable, distinction in pasteurization.

Dairy Milk Pasteurization

Broadly speaking there are two types of bacteria natural to dairy milk. Some are pathogens, or disease-causing bacteria. A second class of bacteria are non-pathogenic and, from a health perspective, are benign.

Pasteurization is a heat-step designed to destroy bacteria. Pathogens are destroyed at a lower temperature than the bacteria that are benign but cause spoilage.

Standard pasteurization for dairy milk is only a safety measure, and is therefore set at the lowest temperature needed for the destruction of pathogens (that temperature is 160 F for 15 seconds). It is not set at the higher temperatures that would be required to destroy the greater range of bacteria that cause spoilage.

In practical terms, this means that the milk found in the refrigerated section of the market, and that typically appears in a plastic container, has been processed to standard pasteurization temperatures.

In contrast, shelf-stable milk has been heated to ultra-high temperatures that succeed in destroying even those bacteria that can cause spoilage. These milk products are packaged in cardboard boxes that usually are not refrigerated, although occasionally are also located in the refrigerated section of a store.

Oatmilk Ultra-High Temperature Processing

Oatmilk, and other specialty milks, are only produced as a shelf-stable product. They are therefore only produced on equipment that is used for other shelf-stable products⁶.

Therefore, the introduction of oatmilk on the market does not intersect with the processing and packaging of shelf-stable (non-shelf-stable) milk.

However, the equipment used to process oatmilk might be used for shelf-stable standard dairy milk.

Does this mean that standard dairy milk should not be purchased for

Ultra-High Temperature Oatmilk

Pesach, considering that there is a possibility that the equipment used to perform the ultra-high-pasteurization on the oatmilk is also used on the shelf-stable dairy milk?

Certain considerations in the nature of ultra-high-temperature processing rule out the likelihood that dairy milk would, even post-facto, become unsuitable for Pesach. Still, unless there are extenuating circumstances, it is best to avoid shelf-stable dairy milk⁷.

Similarly, other milk alternatives such as almond milk, soy milk and coconut milk are shelf-stable products that are processed at ultra-high temperatures in the same facility that, nowadays, is likely to process oatmilk. In the dietary supplement pages, we have listed a number of products that should only be used for those in need.

Lactose Free Milk

Milk naturally contains lactose, which is sugar. Many people have difficulty digesting lactose in milk.

Lactose sugar is technically a disaccharide, which is helpful for us to know insofar as this word denotes a molecule with two parts (“di-“). An enzyme called lactase (the -ase suffix means that it is an enzyme) has been developed to split those two parts.

When lactase is added to milk, it essentially pre-digests lactose, by breaking it down to constituent parts. The result is that someone who otherwise would not be able to drink milk (or in any event have difficulty tolerating it) can now enjoy it without repercussions.

Lactase may be made using chametz, although not necessarily. It is added to milk at exceptionally small amounts. As mentioned earlier, chametz that is mixed into a mixture prior to Passover is nullified provided it is present at less than one in sixty parts; lactase is present at significantly less than that amount ⁸.

For those that use lactose-free milk and cannot forego the product during Pesach, the OU permits its use, but it should be purchased before Pesach.

6. A dairy processing executive explained that specialty milks like oatmilk must be made in sufficient volume to meet supermarkets’ minimal requirements. Standard dairy milk processors do not have the economic incentive to use their equipment for oatmilk; they are generally more than occupied processing standard dairy milk. Specialized processing facilities that make shelf-stable products do have an interest in making oatmilk products.
7. Although rare, some manufacturing sites use steam to heat one product. It is then recovered and injected directly into another product. If the first product heated by the steam is chametz, it would be best to avoid using the second product for Pesach.
8. Mishna Berurah, 447, 14 notes that a chametz ingredient that is added deliberately to a food to perfect a physical property of the food (for example, to give it firmness or body) would not necessarily be nullified. Because lactase does not contribute to a physical enhancement, it does not fall under this category. ■

CHAMETZ:

When to Peddle & When to Purge

By Rabbi Gavriel Price

A common method of relinquishing ownership of chametz is to sell it, typically through an agent (a rabbi) to a non-Jew. The chametz remains in the house, in a closed-off area (e.g. a closet) that has been rented to its new owner. After Pesach, the rental period ends and the agent purchases the chametz back on behalf of the original owner.

This option is time-honored and halachically acceptable. Some, however, do not want to rely on such a sale for chametz that, on a Torah level, we are required to remove from our possession.

The Torah prohibition against owning chametz applies not only to obvious chametz such as bread, pretzels or cookies, but to any product that contains a chametz ingredient that constitutes a k'zayit within that product. Licorice, for example, which contains a significant amount of flour in its dough, would not be sold according to this position but should, instead, be eaten before Pesach, burned, or otherwise destroyed. Such products are considered chametz gamur — “real” chametz.

If the food is only safek chametz (that is, there is some doubt as to whether it is chametz at all), it may be included in the sale even according to those individuals who avoid the sale of chametz gamur.

The foods listed in the chart on page 39 are identified either as chametz gamur and, according to the stringent position, should not be included in a sale, or “not chametz gamur,” and may be included in a sale.

Many people who avoid selling chametz gamur nonetheless have a family custom to sell their whiskey. ■

The Torah prohibition against owning chametz applies not only to obvious chametz such as bread, pretzels or cookies, but to any product that contains a chametz ingredient that constitutes a k'zayit within that product.

Because of global variations in raw material sourcing, this chart ONLY APPLIES TO PRODUCTS MANUFACTURED IN THE USA.

HOW TO MAKE YOUR KITCHEN KOSHER-FOR-PASSOVER, EVEN IF YOU'RE NOT A RABBI

Safety Warning:
Kashering Involves High Heat!

By Rabbi Eli Gersten

One of the most daunting preparations we make for Pesach is kashering, a process to prepare chametz utensils for Pesach use. As with all areas of halachah, those who are unsure of how to apply the rules of kashering to their situation should consult an Orthodox rabbi.

The Torah (Bamidbar 31:23) requires kashering utensils acquired from a non-Jew, as they are presumed to have been used in non-kosher cooking (and will have absorbed non-kosher flavor). Since chametz on Pesach is also forbidden, the Talmud applies the laws of kashering to chametz as well. There are four basic methods of kashering. The prescribed method depends on the utensil and how it was used.

LIBUN GAMUR (BURNING)

Utensils used directly in the fire (e.g. BBQ grate), must be kashered by placing them into fire. This process has the effect of burning away any absorbed taste. To qualify as a complete libun, metal must be heated until it glows. A self-clean cycle of an oven (approx. 850°F) also qualifies as libun. There is no need to wait 24 hours before libun, though it is advised. There is no need to scrub the utensil before performing libun, since the fire will burn off residue, but some cleaning is advised.

HAGALAH (BOILING)

Utensils that were used to cook non-kosher liquid can be kashered with hagalah (boiling in water). To prepare the utensil for hagalah, the utensil must be thoroughly cleaned. Only utensils that can be scrubbed clean should be kashered. Items that have narrow cracks, crevices, deep scratches or other areas that cannot be cleaned, cannot be kashered for Pesach. The following, for example, cannot be kashered for Pesach: pots with rolled lips, bottles with narrow necks, filters, colanders, knives (or other utensils) where food can get trapped between the blade and handle. After cleaning, the utensils should then be left idle for 24 hours. To kasher, every part of the utensil must make contact with boiling water. This process can be done in parts. For example, a large spoon can be immersed into a pot of boiling water for 10 seconds, turned over and then the remainder immersed. When the utensil is removed from the boiling water, it should be rinsed off in cold water. While strictly speaking these utensils may be kashered in a clean non-Pesach pot that was not used for 24 hours, the minhag, however, is to kasher the pot first, by boiling water in the pot and discarding.

IRUY KLI RISHON (POURED BOILING WATER)

If the utensil only came in contact with hot liquid being poured on it (iruy), it can be kashered in the same manner. If the utensil came in contact with hot chametz solids, then one should kasher by pouring boiling water accompanied by an even melubenet, a heated stone. For example, if hot pasta fell into a sink, stones should be heated on the stove, and moved around the surface of the sink while boiling water is poured over them. In this way, the water will remain boiling on the surface of the sink. The stones may need to be reheated several times, since they cool down quickly. In all other aspects the process is identical to hagalah.

LIBUN KAL (LIGHT BURNING)

In certain cases, libun kal is sufficient. This can be accomplished by heating in an oven at 550° F for one hour. This method of kashering can be used in place of hagalah. It is also used when the need for libun is only an added stringency.

NOT EVERY MATERIAL CAN BE KASHERED.

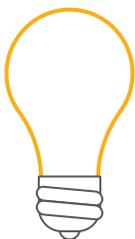

Ceramic, such as china, and enamel coated pots cannot be kashered. It is the custom of Ashkenazim not to kasher glass as well. Some poskim do not permit kashering plastic or other synthetic materials for Pesach; however, the opinion of the OU rabbanim is that it may be kashered, if there is a need. Ask your rabbi for guidance. Composite stone (e.g. quartz counters) which is made mostly of stone, but is held together with resin, can be kashered. As a rule, materials such as metal, wood, stone, natural rubber, and fabric can be kashered. ■

SOME HELPFUL TIPS:

It is recommended that one not wait until erev yom tov to run the self-cleaning cycle to kasher an oven, as this is known to be hard on the oven and repairs may be required.

Some newer self-cleaning ovens employ Aqualift technology that cleans at low heat; they should be considered like non-self-cleaning ovens (see The Modern Kitchen on page 52 for details).

Please note that kashering may discolor oven racks and stovetop burners. If racks have rubber wheels, the wheels may melt. Replacement racks for Pesach should be ordered well in advance of the holiday.

THE MODERN KITCHEN

GLOSSARY OF TERMS:

LIBUN GAMUR - Burning
HAGALAH - Boiling
IRUY KLI RISHON - Poured Boiling Water
EVEN MELUBENET - Heated Stone

See pages 60-61 for details on these processes.

1 REFRIGERATORS, FREEZERS, FOOD SHELVES & PANTRIES CLEAN & COVER

These areas should be thoroughly cleaned, paying special attention to the edges where crumbs may get trapped. The surfaces should be lined with paper or plastic.

Note: Refrigerators and freezers will operate more efficiently if holes are poked in the lining to allow air flow.

2 DISHWASHERS HAGALAH

(boiling in water) Kashering of dishwashers is a complicated process and should only be done in consultation with a halachic authority.

7 SELF-CLEANING OVENS

LIBUN (burning) Remove any visible food. Complete self-cleaning cycle with racks in place.

NON-SELF-CLEANING OVEN

LIBUN (burning) Clean all surfaces (walls, floor, doors and racks) thoroughly with a caustic cleanser (e.g. Easy Off). Pay special attention to thermostat, oven window, and edges of the oven chamber. Black discoloration that is flush with the metal need not be removed. Oven should not be used for 24 hours. Place racks in the oven and turn the oven to broil (highest heat) for 60 minutes. A broiler pan that comes in direct contact with food should not be used.

Note: The method of kashering described above is based on the ruling of Rav Aharon Kotler zt'l. However, Rav Moshe Feinstein zt'l ruled that the oven must either be kashered with a blow torch, or an insert should be placed in the oven. Consult your rabbi for guidance.

8 WARMING DRAWERS LIBUN (burning)

Typically warming drawers do not get to libun kal temperature. Therefore, unless one is experienced in kashering with a torch, warming drawers are not recommended for use on Pesach.

9 MICROWAVES

HAGALAH (boiling in water) (for those who kasher plastic) The microwave must be cleaned well and not used for 24 hours. Glass turntable should be removed and replaced with new kosher-for-Passover surface. A styrofoam cup should be filled with water and boiled in the microwave for 10 minutes. The cup should be refilled and moved to another spot and the process repeated for 10 more minutes. Cardboard or contact paper should be taped over the glass window pane for the duration of Pesach.

10 METAL TEA KETTLE HAGALAH

(boiling in water) The same treatment for pots applies here. Although it is uncommon for anything but water to be put into a tea kettle, nevertheless it must be kashered. Tea kettles often sit on the stove, and it is common for them to get sprayed with hot food.

11 ELECTRIC MIXER NOT RECOMMENDED

Because of the difficulty in cleaning out the housing of the mixer from fine particles of flour, one should not use their year-round mixer on Pesach. The mixer blades, though, can be cleaned and kashered with hagalah.

3 STAINLESS STEEL SINK

IRUY (pouring boiling water)

Remove drain. [It is recommended that the drain be replaced. If this is difficult, it may be used if the drain has large holes that can be completely scrubbed clean]. It is preferable to kasher a sink by pouring boiling water in conjunction with an even melubenet (a heated stone). In lieu of kashering with a heated stone, some will place a rack on the bottom of the sink, or use a sink insert.

CERAMIC SINK CANNOT BE KASHERED AND MUST BE COVERED

The sink should not be used with hot water for 24 hours. The sink should be completely clean and dry. The sink should be covered with layers of contact paper or foil; it is best to purchase a sink insert.

4 THE SINK FAUCET (including instant hot)

IRUY (pouring boiling water) Detach any filters or nozzles.

5 STAINLESS STEEL, GRANITE, COMPOSITE STONE (E.G. QUARTZ) OR FORMICA COUNTERTOPS

IRUY (pouring boiling water) OR COVERING It is preferable to kasher a countertop by pouring boiling water in conjunction with an even melubenet. There are different opinions as to whether formica (or plastic) countertops can be kashered for Pesach.

CERAMIC TILE COUNTERTOPS CANNOT BE KASHERED & MUST BE COVERED

The counter should be covered with a water-resistant covering.

6 GAS STOVETOP

LIBUN (burning) & COVER The stovetop surface and grates should be cleaned well and not used for 24 hours.

The stovetop surface should be covered with foil. The stovetop grates can be replaced or they should be burned out in the oven @ 550° F for one hour.

ELECTRIC STOVETOP

LIBUN (burning) & COVER The stovetop surface should be cleaned well and covered with foil. The burners should be turned on until they glow red.

GLASS STOVETOP

CANNOT BE KASHERED & MUST BE COVERED* The stovetop surface should be cleaned well and not used for 24 hours.

During Pesach, pots should not be placed directly on the stove surface, but rather an aluminum (or other metal) disk should be placed directly under the pot.

The entire glass top surface should not be covered as this might cause it to overheat and crack.*

12 SILVERWARE, POTS & OTHER SMALL ITEMS

HAGALAH (boiling in water)

Rollled lips, seams or cracks that cannot be cleaned will require torching of those areas. Utensils should be immersed one at a time into a pot of boiling water that is on the fire. Water should be allowed to return to a boil before the next item is placed in the pot. The pot can be non-Passover, provided it is clean, has not been used for 24 hours, and water is first boiled in the pot and discarded. Larger items can be submerged in the water one part at a time. Utensils should then be rinsed in cold water.

13 KEURIG COFFEE MAKER

HAGALAH OR IRUY (pouring boiling water) (for those who kasher plastic) The coffee maker must be cleaned well and not used for 24 hours. Remove K-cup holder and perform hagalah or iruy on K-cup holder. Run a Kosher-for-Passover K-cup in the machine (this will kasher the top pin).

14 HOT WATER URN, WATER COOLER

IRUY (pouring boiling water)

Urn only used for heating water: Run hot water through the water tap for 10 seconds, while pouring boiling water from a kettle over the water tap.

Urn also used to warm food (e.g. to warm challah): Not recommended. Must be put away for the holiday.

Water Cooler In addition to pouring boiling water over tap, replace water bottle.

15 BABY HIGH CHAIR COVERED

The tray should be covered with contact paper. The seat, legs and bars should be wiped down with a soapy rag.

16 TABLECLOTHS, KITCHEN GLOVES, APRONS & OTHER FABRIC ITEMS

WASH Fabric items can be kashered by washing them with detergent in a washing machine set on "hot." Items should be checked to make sure no pieces of food remain attached.

17 TABLES

COVERED Although wooden tables can be kashered, the common custom is to clean tables well and then cover them.

Now, his family is taking way too long looking at the lizards. Yanky is getting impatient; he's eager to see the interesting stuff! He starts to wander away from his family, making sure they are still in sight.

PLEASE NOTE THE FOLLOWING POINTS:

- Many of the products contain kitniyot, some as the primary ingredient.
- Some of the products may contain minor ingredients that are possibly, though unlikely, produced from chametz-based raw materials. All such ingredients are used at a less than 1:60 ratio.
- Liquid versions of these products are preferable to their powdered counterparts.
- Products that contain flavors should only be provided when no unflavored alternative exists.
- Products should be purchased before Passover and stored and maintained separately from Kosher-for-Passover Foods.
- A few – not all – of the Ensure, Glucerna, Pediasure and Jevity products contain oat fiber; the OU has determined that the fiber is not chametz, and the products are permitted to be consumed on Passover.

GUIDELINES FOR MEDICINES

1. Exercise extreme caution and consult with your doctor and rabbi before making a decision not to take a medicine.

2. Known and tested medications in the form of creams, non-chewable pills and injections may be owned, used and consumed on Pesach, even if they contain chametz or kitniyot, since they are inedible. This covers most medicines used by adults. However, if an equally effective chametz-free alternative is available or procurable, this should be used instead.

A. It is permissible to grind pills and mix the powder into food items so that a child can take medicine on Pesach. However, a doctor must be consulted to make sure that the child is getting the correct dosage and that the potency of the pill is not compromised by altering its consistency.

3. Liquid medicines, chewable pills and pills coated with a flavored glaze are considered palatable and may contain chametz.

Also gelcaps may present a problem because they may contain non-kosher edible gelatin. Therefore:

A. If possible, they should be replaced, under the direction of a doctor, with a non-chewable, uncoated pill.

B. If substitution is not possible and the person is in a state of sakana or safek sakana (any possible danger to human life), the medication may be owned and consumed. The same applies if the condition is not yet a safek sakana but may deteriorate to that point. A rabbi should be consulted as to whether it is preferable to purchase the medicine before or during Pesach, and as to how to dispose of the medicine once the danger passes.

C. If substitution is not possible and a doctor determines that there is no possibility of sakana if the person does not take the medicine, a rabbi should be consulted. He may be able to determine that the medicine does not contain chametz and/or kitniyot, or he may decide that the medicine may be consumed due to the seriousness of the patient's condition.

4. Unless an equivalent alternative is available, medicinal items which contain kitniyot are permitted for people who are ill. Questions on this issue should be directed to your rabbi.

5. These guidelines do not address the more general prohibition of consuming medicines on Shabbat and yom tov.

Sefirah is the counting of seven complete weeks from the second evening of Pesach until Shavuot. The count, which takes place after night fall for the following day, is preceded by the blessing only if done in the evening and no days have been missed in the count.

Visit www.ou.org/sefirah to receive an email reminder to count each day. Emails are pre-programmed to go out on each of the 49 days of the Omer to help make sure you don't forget to count!
